New Candidates Enter Race

of Oakville, a businessman, stated this week that he would seek the Stonewall supervisorship. John W. Alvis, Jr., incumbent, was appointed by the Circuit Court to fill out the term of the late Frank Smith.

With the addition of the candidates announced this week, the line-up at present is as follows:

For Supervisor:

Southside District: F. L. Murphy, incumbent, only announced candidate.

Clover Hill District: R. M. Webb, only announced candidate. F. A. O'Brien, incumbent, has announced that he will not run for another term.

Stonewall District: Herbert B. Scruggs, announced this week. O W. Martin, Jr. stated that he plans to announce. John W. Alvis, Jr., incumbent, has not announced yet.

For County Sheriff: Incument David T. Robertson advised The Times-Virginian this week that he would be a candidate. No other has announced.

Commissioner of the Revenue: J. H. O'Brien, veteran incumbent, announced several weeks ago, and last week H. H. Caldwell, Jr. entered the lists for this office.

. . . . H. H. Caldwell, Jr.

. . . . David T. Robertson

Commonwealth Attorney: It is presumed that the incumbent, G. F. Abbitt, Jr. will file and will be the only candidate.

County Treasurer: J. Garland Plunkett and Thomas T. Martin are the announced candidates.

David T. Robertson, the incumbent sheriff, was appointed to fill out the term of the late H. W. McKinney, and four years ago won a full term. He was opposed in that election four years ago by Vernell Mitchell. Sheriff Robertson informed The Times-Virginian this week that he would be a candidate, and to date no other has announced.

The two-way race for Commissioner of the Revenue will find H. H. Caldwell, Jr. opposing the veteran incumbent, J. H. O'Brien. Mr. Caldwell will be making his first bid for public office. He is the son of H. H. Caldwell, of Route 3, Appomattox. He graduated at Appomattox High School in 1943 and entered the Navy as Aviation Cadet August 10 of that year. While in the service he took special courses at the Universities of South Carolina and Georgia. He served on the USS. Bismarck Sea, and was on same when the carrier was sunk by a Jap dive bomber attack Feb. 23, 1945. He was among the rescued survivors. He entered V. P. I. in the fall of 1945, and received his B. S. degree in 1949. He was president of the civilian student body his senior year. Since he has been employed with American Tobacco Co., Schaffer Pen Co., and since 1954 with Gary Steel Products Corp, Lynchburg, as assistant to the general sales manager..

The Living World

Lesson for March 27, 1955

WOULDN'T seem singular we are all born plural. We born at all without the of two people we never before, and we can't be born without the consent of at least many more. We live a world of people, by the help of people. We cannot achieve health or wealth or happiness at all by ourselves. And we all die the same way, which is why we say that long is that life is so many people ready to take over place. Christian life is neither men nor a world of men. His religion ought to give him some clue, at least, as to how he should live this human world. this complex wheels-within-wheels thing we call Society. Is it the Christian thing to do to run away from the world and live as hermits have tried it. Is it the Christian thing to do to accept the world and change it? Worldly "Christians" have failed that.

The Light

Neither the Christian heroic withdrawal from the "worldly Christian" who has adopted the world. The world is the place for either of them, and on the other hand both hermit and meddling have ended by being no better than a caricature of the true Christian. The Christian's relation to the world around him is a little more subtle. We are not just a minute. We are living on a small scale or small. The word "world" here means human life, not in separate capsules but in innumerable ways to one another, affecting one another inseparable from birth to death. The Christian's relation to the world is not like that of a pin stuck into a pin-cushion. The world is not merely the place where he is to be. Jesus put it into those vivid thumb-nail parables of the Light. The Christian is to be different, to be separate; but that a pin is different from its cushion. The pin does nothing except for the cushion; but salt is to do something, something valuable and needed, to whatever it is in which they make contact. Christians are expected to be themselves and their Christianity to every relationship of life—that's a dull way to put it. But doing it is never dull.

Love Is Concern

Jesus and Paul both made it clear that the one law of life that is above all other laws is Love. Not romantic love, not sloppy sentimentality, but genuine heart-concern, intelligent concern, for the welfare of others. We all know that this is the law that transforms family life from a kind of jungle, or a cage at best, into something very close to heaven. We haven't all discovered that it is the law that can transform public life, yes, politics, business, every part of it. It's harder to do that, because the larger the group the less co-operation you are going to find. Nevertheless, it is a fact that civilizations, nations, and businesses that have learned something from the Christian Gospel do better for the people that serve and work there than those where Christianity has never had a chance.

Yet ours is still a pagan civilization. When a manufacturer argues that the principle of his business has always been to make money for the stockholders, he has not got hold of the Christian idea. When an industrialist says that his business is making citizens and running a cotton mill for that reason, he has got hold of the Christian idea.

The End of Time

Suppose the H-bomb gets us all. Suppose, for lack of enough real Christians, the hate-all, fear-all way of the world has brought us to the edge of doom. What can Christians do? Sit down and wait for the end? The Apostle Paul did not think so. Neither did any other early Christian. They felt themselves in a burning building on fire—and indeed so it

THE TIMES-

AHS Newscast

By Jane Holt

Appomattox, Virginia
March 22, 1955

Dear June,

Most of our events this week concern plays. In order not to keep you guessing any longer, I'll tell you the cast of our Senior play, "No Place Like Home." They are Mickey Guill, Lucy Perdue, Robert Leffers, Edna Gregory, Shirley Blanks, Jerry George, Ronnie Lewis "Deetsie" Rothgeb, and Jane Holt.

We hope to give a fine performance on the 14th of April. We had our first reading Tuesday night.

The Speech Class is presenting its plays Thursday night at 8:00. Only three of the regular four plays planned will be given because of sickness. The three plays that will be presented are "The Valiant," "Suppressed Desires," and "Tangled Web." This excludes "Dust of the Road," which we plan to present later on during the school year.

The Junior class, which will present their annual class play April 28th, has chosen their play. I hope you will be able to attend some of these activities.

The baseball team is progressing quite well. Because of hain, however, they have had few good practices. As of yet the captain has not been chosen.

Next week we students, John Rothgeb, Ronnie Lewis, Jerry George, Shawn Mabley, Edna Gregory, co-president of the Senate and I attend the Model General Assembly. This is a very interesting and educational activity occurring during our school year.

Because of many spring vacations elsewhere, we have been seeing students from V. P. I., Lynchburg College and other schools, who are former A. H. S. students, around our halls.

As we had no clubs this week, our club items will be eliminated. This has been done in order that we might get back on the original club schedule.

This concludes the news around A. H. S. for now. Be looking for more news next week.

'Til then,
Jane.

Dr. Foreman

Wednesday, March 30.- Wiener in roll, cole slaw, blackberry cobbler, milk.

Thursday, March 31.- Vegetable soup, cheese sandwich, sliced peaches, cookie and milk.

Friday, April 1.- Salmon salad, scalloped potatoes with cheese, blue plums, saltines or bread, milk.

STATE 4-H EVENTS PLANNED AT VPI

Dates for two annual state 4-H events have been set at VPI.

They are the State 4-H Short Course, June 27 - July 2; and the state conference of the Virginia Chapter of All Stars, honorary 4-H organization, July 1 - 3.

Highlight of the short course is the announcement of winners of state contests. Many of them compete in demonstration contests during the event. Classes and recreation also are planned. Those club members selected to attend must be over 14 years old, and have active and good 4-H club records.

CLOVER HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie G. Johnson had visiting in their home for dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Lucado Mr. and Mrs. Basil Lucado, and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson and Cawthorne; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Garrett and family, from Richmond; Mr. Bill Tanner, Mrs. Alvin Trent, from Lynchburg, in celebration of their daughter's birthday. Margaret Johnson, who will be 19 the 25th.

PEST CONTROL ADVICE GIVEN FOR STRAWBERRIES

Virginia strawberry growers now have a chance to control some of the more troublesome insects, says J. M. Amos, insect and disease specialist at VPI.

In Kentucky tests, two applications of 5% chlordane mixed with 5% DDT have proved effective against millipedes, plant bugs, spittle bugs, and the "clipper" or strawberry weevil.

Amos says if the insecticide is applied when about 75% of the plants show buds and is repeated 7 to 10 days later, there should be good control and no injury should occur on the fruit.

After the fruits begin to form, do not use any insecticides, warns Amos. The time to control the insects is early when they first become active or about the time the first blossom appears on any particular variety.

If you are having trouble with gray mold on the berries about harvest time, you can spray or dust with captan to reduce it. Considerable increase in yield has occurred when 4 or 5 applications were made with this fungicide, beginning when the first blossoms open and continuing every 7 to 10 days until the fruit begins to turn red.

Homemakers Items

Food from the freezer is now an integral part of modern-day life—and to make even better use of the home freezer, VPI nutritionists have a few tips for preparing entire meals.

Many times there is just enough food left from a meal to serve one or more people. Why not dish it up on a paper plate (when it is cold) and freeze it quickly? It must be covered completely and sealed well, and it will be ready for the family on the days you are away.

Some homemakers find this plan so convenient that they cook up standard foods ahead and plan to prepare a dozen or so meals ready for quick serving.

Good meals to freeze might be: roast pork and gravy, apple sauce candied sweet potatoes, turnip greens and rolls; or roast beef and gravy, French fries, string-beans biscuits, and dessert of frozen fruit.

To package, cover a paper plate or piece of heavy cardboard with aluminum foil. Make divisions in the plate by pressing foil into separate sections. Wrap bread separately before putting it on the plate. If you use cardboard, allow enough foil for fold to form edge. Wrap plate closely with foil, label, and freeze.

It is easy to serve frozen meals. Simply put the plate in a hot oven (450 degrees) without thawing. Heat for 15 to 30 minutes, depending on the thickness of the package.

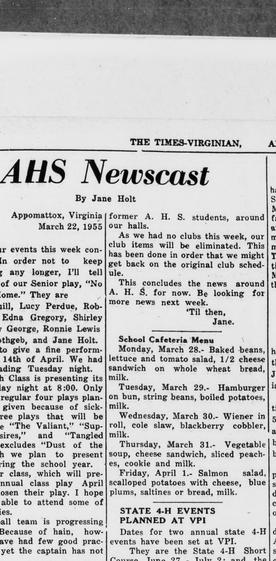
TRUCK BUYERS CAUTION!


THIS YEAR marks a revolution in truck engine design. Ultra-modern short-stroke design has jolted the entire industry.
BUT you can't get it in all trucks!
The most important truck power advancement of modern times is short-stroke design. The shorter stroke cuts internal friction. Piston ring life is prolonged up to 53%. Gas savings up to one gallon in seven!
LOOK UNDER THE HOOD!
Be alert—check engine specifications before you buy a new truck. It isn't a short-stroke unless it has a stroke as short as, or shorter than the bore.
ONLY FORD gives you a modern Short Stroke engine in every truck!
Ford pioneered Short Stroke truck engines over three years ago. Ford has four Short Stroke V-8's and the shortest stroke Six in the business! Why settle for an old-type long-stroke engine? For immediate benefits, for highest trade-in value later—go modern, go Short Stroke, go FORD!
